Dear Mr. Pulcinella,

Enclosed please find photographs of two specimens of Phaeton lepturus, White-tailed Tropicbirds in the Smithsonian collection from Pennsylvania. My apologies for the delay in response. Your request must have arrived just after I departed for an extended vacation. I have spent the past week catching up with all the correspondence and requests received during my absence.

The two Pennsylvania specimens in our collection are:

USNM 457964. Female collected at Nanticoke, PA. 16 October 1954 by D.M. Christian. "Specimen brought north by Hurricane Hazel".

USNM 463391. Female, taken 16 October 1954 at PA: Gettysburg, near Coldsmiths Stables. Collector C.H. Wolford. Note: The long tail plumbs in this specimen are loose so estimations of total length and tail length may be inaccurate.

I hope you find the photographs satisfactory. Please let me know if you need any additional photographs taken.

Respectfully,

James Dean
