Hi Jan,

While editing the spring issue of Pennsylvania Birds, I came across a post in the listserv archives about a Scissor-tailed Flycatcher in Susquehanna County. The writer mentioned he had photos so I asked if he could send them to me for PORC and the journal. He said he would, then I didn't hear from him. I sent him a reminder last week and he finally sent me the photos, so here they are.

So the bird was in New Milford, PA, Susquehanna County on May 12, 2014. Observers contact info is below the photos.

Thanks for the reminder Mike.

So sorry to delay. I hope we haven't missed your deadline.

Attached are Flycatcher Photos taken by my wife, Nancy Wottrich on May 12, on our property, outside of New Milford PA.

We have more pictures if needed.
